Excerpt: . . . 11 the USPTO to take a second look at an issued patent and consider questions of va-lidity during the life of the patent. However, although Congress has increased, through these amendments, the USPTOs role in helping guarantee the efficacy of the patent system after patent issuance, none of these procedures alone, or collectively, has proven sufficient to op-timize the USPTOs post-grant capability. Accordingly, the USPTO recommended a new post-grant review procedure in its 21st Century Strategic Plan. A version of such a procedure is currently under con-sideration in Congress. It would serve as a quicker, lower cost alternative to expen-sive litigation in reviewing patent validity questions. Such a procedure would com-plement rather than displace ongoing quality-focused initiatives at USPTO, which include measures to address the hiring, training, certification and retention of an adequate number of examiners. The USPTO will work with Congress and other stakeholders in developing a post-grant review procedure that effectively serves the interests of the patent community. Conclusion We recognize that the...
